

AWE

silive.com

YOUR CONNECTION TO YOUR COMMUNITY STATEN ISLAND ADVANCE OCTOBER 5, 2017

ZOO SPOOKTACULAR
Saturday & Sunday • October 14-15
Staten Island Zoo

Fall Fest at South Shore Swim Club
October 14th

The Conference House • November 25th
The Candlelight house tour

Pumpkin picking at Decker Farm
Saturdays, Sundays & Mondays
September 30 through October 22,

ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW
at St. George Theatre • Oct 27

Frights & fests

Family fun, pumpkin patches and Halloween horrors. These events will get you ready for the season.

PAGES 10-12

Festa Italiana at the Mount
October 6-8

HALLOWEEN FUN FEST
@ CONFERENCE HOUSE
October 28

Not-So-Scary Halloween
Friday, Oct. 27

Willowbrook Park

GREENBELT PUMPKIN FESTIVAL
Saturday, October 7th

Clay Pit Ponds Harvest Fest
Saturday, October 21

The Great American Harvest
Sunday, October 22

Halloweekend at HRT
Friday, Oct. 27

Monday, October 16th

Haunted Horrors in Travis

Saint Andrew's FRIGHT NIGHT
Saturday, Oct. 14,
& Saturday-Sunday, Oct. 20-21

More upcoming festivals and fun

Not seasonal, but these October events are worth attending

COMING OUT DAY

When: Sunday
Where: Alice Austen House
What: The Alice Austen House and Pride Center of Staten Island welcomes members and allies of the LGBTQ community to celebrate Coming Out Day, 2 to 5 p.m. What could be better? This free event is all about life, love and pride. Food from Top Tomato will be served. For more information, contact Marcy Carr at mcarr@pridecentersi.org.

Crown Palace, above, and Taste of India II, right, during last year's New Dorp Restaurant Crawl. This year's event is set for Oct. 15. Pamela Silvestri, for Staten Island Advance

BEER AND BUBBLY OYSTER FEST

When: Thursday, Oct. 12
Where: The Stone House of Clove Lakes, 1150 Clove Road
What: Oyster sampling, unlimited beer and bubbly and a full buffet, with a portion of the proceeds to be donated to the Museum of Maritime Navigation & Communication. Tickets are $73.79 per person, with tax.

MICHAEL CARBANARO LIVE

When: Friday, Oct. 13
Where: St. George Theatre, 35 Hyatt St.
What: Michael Carbonaro has made a name for himself performing jaw-dropping magic tricks on The Carbonaro Effect on truTV. Now, he hits the stage here. The show starts at 8 p.m. and tickets range from $39-$179. For more information on how to snag your tickets, check out stgeorgetheatre.com/michael-carbonaro-live/ or call 718-442-2900.

'YOU COULD GO HOME AGAIN'

When: Saturday, Oct. 14
Where: CPG Gallery, 814 Richmond Terrace
What: The opening reception of "Schaghticoke — You Can Go Home Again" by Gail Middleton will be 5 to 8 p.m. Schaghticoke, where the artist grew up, is a rural community at the northern edge of Rensselaer County in Upstate New York. Other exhibiting

What: The New Dorp Business Improvement District, Councilman Steven Matteo, and the SIEDC host the Third Annual New Dorp Restaurant Crawl, 2 to 5 p.m. Pay one price and sample flavors from more than 15 participating restaurants. Tickets are $15 in advance $20 the day of and are available at Eventbrite.

BOARDWALK SLIDESHOW CARNIVAL

When: Friday, Oct. 20
Where: The Vanderbilt, South Beach
What: Psychic readings, tarot readings, fireworks on the boardwalk, photo ops, body painting and balloon twisting, fun carnival games and prizes, raffles including trips and cash prizes are up for grabs from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. Plus there will be dinner, DJ, dancing, open bar, authentic sideshow live performance. All proceeds of the event will go towards charity.

GIRL'S WORLD EXPO

When: Sunday, Oct. 22
Where: St. John's University,

The Girls World Expo convention of teenage feminism takes to St. John's University in Grymes Hill on Oct. 22. Courtesy of Girls World Expo

"Hotel Victor" by Emily Thompson. An exhibit of the artist's work takes place Oct. 14 at Wagner College. Courtesy of the artist via Wagner College

Grymes Hill
What: From noon to 4 p.m., the national Girls World Expo series brings an array of free entertainment — from fashion shows to car repair workshops — to Staten Island women who are looking to connect and get inspired with others in their community. Basically, it's like Comic Con for new-age feminism. The main attractions: Local vendors display and sell clothing, jewelry, books and salon items; "Bright Ideas," a STEM showcase from local middle school and high school girls; college and career sessions for teens and parents, featuring information on career paths; degree programs and internships; and a variety of non-profit, community service opportunities. Plus: Seminars on bullying, anxiety, body image and self-esteem will go on throughout the event, in the hopes of lightening the spirits of the young ladies in attendance. Presented by the Staten Island Advance and SILive, tickets are free but those looking to come must register at GirlsWorldExpo.com. There is a five ticket purchase limit per order. For more information, email info@girlsworldexpo.com.